Doshi & Levien

Despite being based in London, the studio isn’t afraid to play with the idea of design and the way it can be used to influence our daily lives. They believe that design should be both practical and beautiful, and they have created a collection of furniture that reflects this philosophy. Their work is often characterized by a sense of humor and a willingness to explore new ideas, while still remaining true to their core values.

Patricia Urquiola

In an interview with Dezeen, Urquiola talks about her process of designing and the importance of sustainability. She believes that design should not only be aesthetically pleasing, but also functional and sustainable. Her work often includes the use of recycled materials and the integration of nature into the design process. She also emphasizes the importance of collaboration with other designers and the impact of design on society.

Piero Lissoni

Lissoni believes in the importance of simplicity and function in design. His work often features clean lines and minimalist forms, while still maintaining a sense of elegance and luxury. He is known for his ability to create timeless pieces that are both practical and stylish. His work has been featured in many exhibitions and collections around the world.
